Huni Kuin

The Huni Kuin People keep a rich and complex culture in the middle of the Brazilian Amazon, where they traditionally use different plants, prayers, and sacred music for healing and truly connect with nature.

The healing chants of the Huni Kuin people are working deeply together with the forest medicines and have a powerful therapeutic capacity to achieve integral healing of the body, soul, and spirit.

Nowadays, young people have added instruments such as the guitar and created wonderful melodies as a form of adding a new dimension of cultural appreciation to their ancient sacred ways.
